A#ÿÿ####ÿÿ####ÿjd######Z######Z#########Today we are going to discuss Government resources and when it is okay to use them. I have two goals: 1) to provide you with a general understanding of the rules so that you can determine when a use is authorized and provide guidance to your subordinates; and 2) encourage you to call my office and seek advice when you have questions.For those of you who are supervisors, this training is particularly important because you will be advising your subordinates on some of these issues. You will see as we go along that supervisors have discretion in allowing some personal uses of Government resources.Please raise your hand if you think it is okay to:1. Use the office copier to copy your tax returns?2. Use the office computer to type your resume?3. Send a personal e-mail letter from your system at work?4. FAX personal correspondence on the office FAX?Under certain circumstances, all of the above are permissible.
